

Track inventory stratification program performance

The proper execution of an inventory stratification program can reap many rewards for a distribution business—from improvements in customer service levels and margins, to more opportunities to invest in profitable stock. Use the Inventory Stratification Dashboard to track the performance of your program, know if your classification “intent” is being met, and identify when it might be time to move items from one “strata” to another.

Use the inventory stratification dashboard to guide program change decisions:

- Inventory allocation by class: where is it growing, and shrinking, across the entire company?
- Lead times and fill rates by class: are customer service targets being met?
- Item level detail: which products within a class are making less ROI than expected, or have below expectation customer service levels?

Modules used to support the Inventory Stratification Dashboard include:

- Sales Module
- Inventory Module
- Order Fulfillment Module
